Second Opinions

Benefit

Second opinions are covered as physician services if the Primary Care Physician recommends this service.

Interpretation

Members who call the HMO and request information regarding second opinions will be referred to their PCP. If the PCP agrees to refer the member for a second opinion, they are not required to refer the member (a) outside of their IPA, or (b) to a specialist practicing in a group different from that in which the first specialist practices.

If there is a substantive disagreement between the first and second opinion, the Primary Care Physician and the IPA retain the responsibility of determining the need for a third opinion or for selecting the appropriate course of action.
